

I'm sure that self-defencing techniques can be different related to different situations people worldwide have to face.

Everyone can learn from other qualified & different experienced people matching & merging special Krav Maga techniques or different street experience, or unusual approach to different situations they have had.

No problem even if it could be a worldwide match – merging!!!
It's possible to organize meetings among different dojos or exchange movies or use every other kind of modern media.

Contact me - bruno@fundeghe.com - if you're a qualified Krav Maga instructor ... we could do wonderful things all together.
